

To whom it may concern

Rybitví 29. 10. 2018

Dear Business Partners,

based on the recent period of global negative development in the field of production of the raw materials in China, instant growth of energies costs, escalation of “must” activities and costs in ecology and legislation fields Synthesia, a.s. is compelled to announce the rise in prices of organic dyes and pigments of 10 %. The effective date of this measure is assessed on 1st of January 2019 whereas it will be as much as possible made provision for open and long term agreements.

We hope these inevitable arrangement will help us to improve the quality of provided services and products itself and does not impact our so far fruitful and ongoing cooperation.

With kind regards

Richard Dacer
